Can you identify these prominent Jesuits in the history of New England?

Michael J. Ahern  William A. Donaghy  John McElroy
Joseph Aubery  Gabriel Druillettes  John F.X. Murphy
John Bapst  Michael Earls  John Courtney Murray
Virgil H. Barber  Benedict Joseph Fenwick  Joseph T. O’Callahan
Pierre Biard  Thomas I. Gasson  Sébastien Râle
Vincent Bigot  Martin P. Harney  Joseph Coolidge Shaw
John L. Bonn  Isaac Jogues  Thomas Ewing Sherman
John Carroll  John LaFarge  Robert Swickerath
Anthony F. Ciampi  Étienne Lauverjat  Eugene Vetromile
Philippe Côté  Joseph R.N. Maxwell  Edmund P. Walsh

Vincent A. Lapomarda, an associate professor of history at the College of the Holy Cross, is the first Jesuit priest to earn a doctoral degree in history from Boston University (1968). His writings on religion, politics, and diplomacy have appeared in New Catholic Encyclopedia, Journal of Church and State, New England Quarterly, and Projet as well as in a number of other publications. This study covering the 365 years of the history of the Jesuits in New England is a seminal work in the study of American Catholicism.