

2020

The Achaean

Benjamin Kelly

College of the Holy Cross, blkell23@g.holycross.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://crossworks.holycross.edu/parnassus-j>

Part of the Classics Commons

Recommended Citation

Kelly, Benjamin (2020) "The Achaean," Parnassus: Classical Journal: Vol. 7 , Article 12.

Available at: <https://crossworks.holycross.edu/parnassus-j/vol7/iss1/12>

This Creative Works is brought to you for free and open access by CrossWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Parnassus: Classical Journal by an authorized editor of CrossWorks.

The Achaean

Benjamin Kelly, '23

I was inspired to write this while reading the Iliad because the vivid descriptions of warfare drew me into the scene. In my Montserrat, and Mythology classes we learned the Greek word κλέος (kleos) which is often translated as “glory.” After learning this word, I was inspired to write lines 6 and 7, and built the rest of the poem around that. In its entirety, the poem is about how glory is won in chaos.

Storming the walls
Hearing Achaean calls
Leaving none alive
Is the time I thrive
Using my skill
With sword or quill
Within this chaos
I'll earn my kleos
The story of the bold
Will be told
Blood spilt
With no guilt
All for a story
With great glory