FROSH RECEPTION HAILED AS OUTSTANDING SUCCESS

Class of '38 Offers Varied Production

Last evening in Fenwick Hall, the senior class rendered to the freshmen a valentine gift that will not soon be forgotten — the 1938 edition of the Freshman Reception entitled "Key Kapers" or "Will You Be Our Valentines?" The program was, from start to finish, such a variety of clever imitation, foolishness, innuendo and downright slapstick as to furnish the audience with continuous rounds of laughter. The Purple Key was in charge of the entire production and much credit is due to Jim McHugh and his associates in arranging so suitable a presentation.

The festivities began with a short introductory speech by Chuck Collins expressing the wish that the freshmen enjoy the forthcoming offering by the seniors, and George Curley, speaking for the class of '41, gave the sincere thanks of the freshman group and wished the seniors continued success in all of their endeavors.

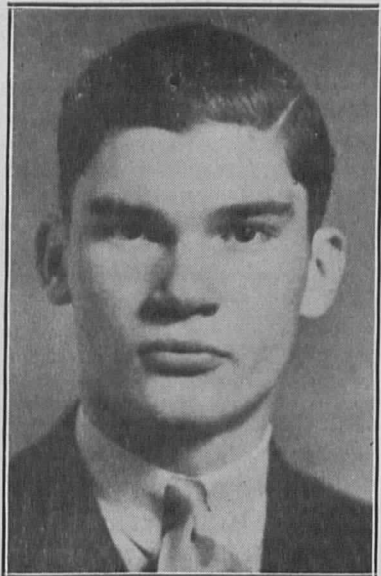

Presidential confirmation of the reception came directly from the lips of F. D. Roosevelt, as he was so ably typified by Bernard Kane to the immense delight and enjoyment of the assembly. Il Duce also had his say and Joseph Trunfo did himself proud in an explosive rendition of Mussolini offering his congratulations to the Key Kapers. William Francis "Himself"

Hazell offered a finishing touch to the greetings in his own inimitable style.

The audience was on the ropes completely and gasping for breath at the sight of Bill Sheehan pulling himself all around the stage in a Herculean effort to show that "It Can Happen Here."

A mystery band led by Jack Hefernan supplied the musical introduction to the Dionne Quints' skit which (Continued on Page Two)

Miss Purple Key To Be Chosen

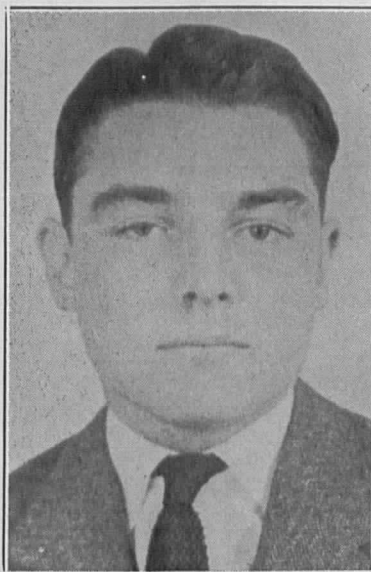

"Something new! Something different! . . . yes, absolutely," announced Bob Osborn, the chairman of the committee, arranging the Purple Key's dance. What sets it apart from the general run of "Socials-Set-to-Music" that have been run by organizations from the Cross? Two innovations in particular seem to take the front. Not to be outdone by other colleges who have picked the various Queens, the Purple Key says that, on the night of the 25th, a cup will be awarded to the winsome maid of the night. So, from the guests of the H. C. students, one will be chosen as "Miss Purple Key." Feature "2" Big Apple.

The committee under the chairman is composed of Bill Cotter, '40, Vic Mariani, '39, Bob Buck, '38, and Jack Shriver, '39. Remember the date of the Purple Key Dance Feb. 25th. Forget not the place—Town House.

Sophomores Meet Rivals Friday

Three Intercollegiate Debates Planned

On Friday night, February eighteenth, Sophomore Intercollegiate debating will reach a climax for Holy Cross when three Crusader teams meet a trio of sophomore teams from the forensic societies of Boston University, Georgetown University, and Fordham University. The Sophomores will mark a new milestone in Crusader endeavors in the debating field, for it is the first time in the history of the school that three Sophomore teams have met debating teams from three other colleges at the same time.

The Holy Cross team composed of George Ogar and Robert Maheu will meet the Boston University Sophomore Debating team in Kimball Hall at 8:00 P. M. The Crusader representatives will uphold the affirmative side of the question "Resolved, That (Continued on Page Three)

ELECTION TO FOLLOW HELLENE LECTURE

Tomorrow evening the members of the Cross and Scroll Club will hear a lecture on the "Eutropias" of Saint John Chrysostom. This great speech of Christianity's "Golden Mouth" will be dissected and appreciated for the members by William Richardson of the class of '41. He is well known on the Hill for his debating and acting but in addition to these he is a member of the History Society, the Sanctuary Society, and the TOMAHAWK staff.

It is announced by Frank Vaas that, after the lecture, elections of the officers for next year will take place. All members are urged to be present and to take part in the elections.

The Faculty Adviser of the Tomahawk, the Rev. J. Bryan Connors, S.J. and his assistant the Rev. John E. Cronin, S.J. announced on Saturday their appointment of the new staff.

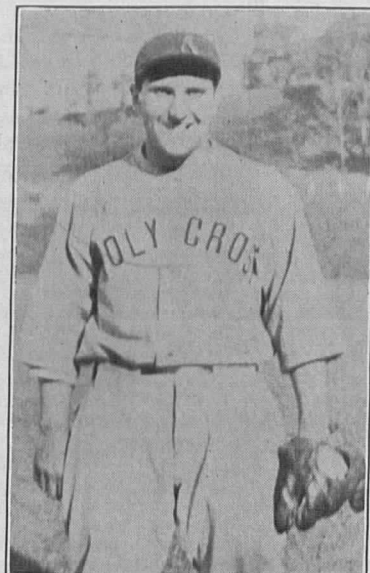

Heading the list is the name of John T. Schriver, the TOMAHAWK'S Editor-in-chief for the coming year. A graduate of Loyola Academy, Chicago, Schriver has distinguished himself as secretary of the Purple Key for the past two years, and is also a member of the recently formed Purple Key Dance Committee. He has also been a member of the Cross and Scroll Club for the past three years, at present on the organization's reception committee. Consistently included on the Dean's List, his affiliations with other organizations on Mount St. James include the Outing Club, Riding Club, German Academy, and Sodality.

Associate-editor is J. Joseph Kierce, an alumnus of Keith Academy. For the past year he has been a featured columnist of this publication, and previous to that he shared the intramural responsibilities with Sports Editor Dunican. Kierce is also secretary of the Junior Class, secretary of the Cross and Scroll Club, a member of the Sanctuary Society, the Sodality, Knights of Columbus, Italian Academy, and an honor student.

Bernard F. Curry has been appointed Managing Editor as a reward for two and a half years of loyal service. Coming from All Hallows Institute, New York City, Curry also has been active in the Philomath, and B. J. F. Debating Societies, has been recently appointed to the Publicity Committee for the Junior Prom, and has also been a member of the Met Club.

The new News Editor, Edwin F. Healy, also came to Holy Cross from All Hallows Institute. Among his activities Healy has listed the Italian Academy, the two debating societies, (Continued on Page Two) and the Met Club. Recently, he too was appointed to the Junior Prom's Publicity Committee. He has distinguished himself in athletic activities as member of the Varsity Tennis Team.

DRAMATIC EDITOR

Hugh H. Harlow, '39

F. Donald Kenney is to be the new City Editor. Coming from Olean High School, Olean, NeNew York, Kenney came to the Cross in his Sophomore year, first having completed a year at St. Bonaventure's College. He is a member of the Italian Academy, the Cross and Scroll Club, the B. J. F. and Philomath Debating Societies and the Riding Club. Kenney is Holy Cross' second representative on the Collegiate Digest. He, too holds an Associate Editorship.

J. Charles Hanahue is the sole Sophomore appointed. He is a graduate of Scranton Central High School, in Scranton, Pa. He is Secretary of the Pennsylvania Club, a member of the Philomath Debating Society and has taken part in Intramural Debating.

Frederic O. Floberg, who takes office as Exchange Editor, has his home in Chicago, Illinois, where he attended Loyola Academy. He is an active member of the Cross and Scroll Club, the TOMAHAWK and the Sodality. Both debating societies have seen his forensic forays and he is a consistent member of the Dean's List. The Outing Club and the Riding Club are numbered in his activities.

Hugh Hayes Harlow takes office as Dramatic Editor. Harlow is a graduate of Oliver Ames High School in North Easton, Mass., and since coming to the Hill has risen to the Secretaryship of the Playshop and Presidency of the Riding Club. He is a member of the Dramatic Society, the B. J. F., a Lecture Debater, contributor to the "Purple," and a Sodality member.

The new Sports Editor is Jerry Dunican, whose columns have already made him well-known. Dunican is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Sanctuary Society, and was Intramural editor of the TOMAHAWK in his Sophomore year in conjunction with Joe Kierce. Dunican is also an Intramuralite and his name regularly is found on the Dean's list.

convulsed the boys so completely that none of the lines could be heard. Pete Manoli, Hilly Renz, Bill Osmanski, Vic Mariani and Tony DiGiovanni cavorted about the stage in diapers and pick-axes in so ludicrous a fashion that they stopped the show.

Hazell and Tom Moriarty vied for the song championship of the Hill with a combination of blood curdling notes and off-key falsettos such as these weary ears have never heard, with all the applause going to "Buzzer" Bracken.

Joe McDonnell and Mike Abbene mystified the audience with a mind reading act that made Blackstone, Thurston and Houdini look like rank amateurs. Meanwhile Joe McDonald and Tom Cavanaugh offered The Three Trees with variations and sound effects.

Jerry Ferry did a death defying tight-rope act aided by Nick Blase that had the onlookers, as well as Jerry, up in the air completely. The Song and Dance men got their break as Murray Devine and Lou Fallon offered their original song, "When You Got Love," followed by the Late Permission Boys: Jim Bowman, Mike Abbene, Hank Ouellette, and Ed

Hauser in chesterfields, top hats and canes, in another original number.

Leo Callahan ran his Date Bureau to perfection with terrific support from Bowman, Paul Bartolomeo, Joe Riel, et al. The Grand Finale ended the activities of the evening in Fenwick Hall but the auditorium under the chapel saw the final festive note as refreshments were served and a floor show staged, featuring a snake dance and the Big Apple with Boots Kelleher stealing the show.

In all, it was a great night on the Hill and congratulations are due not only to the capable cast but to many others including Adrian Driggs, Joe McDonnell and Bill Regan for their excellent scenario; Lou Fallon and Murray Devine for their music; Jim Morriss, Connie Akstens, Tom Meehan, Dan Harrington, Hugh Harlow, Hilly Renz and John Ryan for their technical skill; also to Frank Seegraber, Ray Swords, Ed Maley, Frank McHugh, Jim Clarkin, John Coughlin, and Joe McDonald and the Crusaders for their part in aiding a production that met with such success. And so ended a night that the seniors might well be proud of, and the freshmen should long remember.

Reidy and Noone Add to Staff

Now that the interest of the student body has been daily growing stronger, the Junior Prom committee has announced the additional members appointed to the staff of the publicity committee. This group includes, Joseph P. Brosnan, John H. Lavin, Richard J. Collins, James G. Reidy, Paul A. Carberry, John F. Kneeland, John T. Cain, Daniel P. Callahan, and Philip T. McManus.

To aid Chairman Walsh are the names of some of the most active men on the Hill including Victor J. Mariani, Francis J. Duggan, A. H. Brosnihan, Francis J. Duggan, A. H. Brosnihan, James B. Casey, Jr., Frederick J. Donovan, Edward J. Curtin, James A. Radley, Robert C. Gavin, Martin Moraghan and George O'Keefe.

POWERS TO DIRECT WORCESTER PROM

"It was a great fight." — Al Bates.
"I will do my best to make this Easter Dance the best ever." — Paul Powers.

Paul Powers defeated Al Bates in a very uneven battle of ballots last Thursday for the chairmanship of the Worcester Club's Easter Promenade which will be held on Wednesday, April 20th, at the Hotel Bancroft.

Powers is vice-president of the senior class, a member of the editorial board of the TOMAHAWK, a member of the Cross and Scroll Club and a recent appointee as associate editor of the Purple Patcher.

The Worcester Club will have Parents' Night on Easter Sunday, April 17th. William Wall, president of the club, will be the chairman of the affair.

Editorial Board Completed

The deadline is here. The staff is nearly complete, typewriters are clicking, pages are outlined. The new workers are busy. Such, in short is the state of the Purple Patcher as Tully Ripton last night announced the final members of his editorial board. William Mahon Regan, David W. Sheehan, Leo A. Creeden, and George P. Nagle were named.

In Regan's appointment we have an illustration of the "best kept for last." As editor of the TOMAHAWK, member of the Governor Hurley's Highway Safety Campaign Committee, enthused author, lecturer and writer for the Cross and Scroll, one of three to write the scenario for last night's performance in Fenwick Hall, consistent holder of scholastic honors, active Sodalist, server for the Sanctuary Society, he has welded his name with Holy Cross.

MR. BARRETT FEATURED

In the January issue of "The Hormone," Joseph L. Barrett, S.J., (M.S. '38), discusses "Colloidal Chemistry in Relation to Medicine." He cites the importance of a knowledge of colloidal chemistry in dealing with the human body. Many of the important organs of the body cooperate in a delicate balanced relationship in order to protect the colloidal integrity of the cells. The writer concludes his discussion with the statement that: "The colloidal zone is, as it were, a metronome telling the tempo of life."

The next article of interest is "The Diene Synthesis" by George M. Neville, (M.S. '38). This synthesis is also known as the "Diels and Alder Reaction" being named after its originators Otto Diel and Kurt Alder, and was introduced in 1928. The diene synthesis, which is treated generally in this article, is the most important of its kind which has been discovered in recent years. However, Mr. Neville believes that a few years hence such men as Diels and Alder will have elevated it to a higher plane where unheard of preparations will be within the limits of every day synthesis.

Justin A. McSheehy, (M.S. '38) introduces a little known member of the chemical element family in an article entitled "Thorium." He gives a brief history and analyses of the element and some of its uses. He concludes by predicting a considerable future for its uses to science in the future.

There is also a brief biography of Ernest Rutherford, formerly director of the Cavendish Laboratory at Cambridge University, who died October 19, 1937. His death brought to close a brilliant career devoted to the study of the radio-active elements and their behavior.

In the fifth seminar, John F. Murray, B.S., (M.S. '38) discussed "Chromatographic Absorption." An abstract of the seminar is included in this latest issue of "The Hormone."

David W. Sheehan graduated from Shaw High School in Cleveland, Ohio where he was president of his class and captain of the fencing and basketball teams. He is an honor man and vice-president of the Novels Club.

Leo A. Creeden comes from Brighton High where he was editor of the monthly and manager of football. Also an honor man, he is captain of the Spic and Span organization, a future aspirant to the golf team and member of the sodality's executive committee.

As the fourth honor man, George P. Nagle represents Classical High School of Worcester, where he was selected Boy Mayor in his senior year in which he was also business manager of the year book. At college, he has directed many of the plans of the Worcester Club, is a prominent nominator for class orator. He is never missing from the first honor's list. In his freshman year he contributed several poems to the Purple.

CONTESTS TO FEATURE FAMOUS EASTERN TEAMS

Mr. Tom McCabe, Director of Athletics at the College, released today the baseball schedule for the season of 1938. A glance at the number of games shows the grand total of 23 with the season opening at home with the Red Sox and with fifteen other teams visiting Fitton Field.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR
Tom McCabe

Seven trips from the Hill bring our players to diamonds in Providence, R. I., Durham, N. H., Hamilton, N. Y., New Haven, Conn., Cambridge and Newton, Mass. Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Fordham and Villanova are all great college nines that will give a stiff battle to the Crusaders. In fact each and every name on the schedule brings memories of past victories or happy anticipation of future conquests and we are very happy to congratulate the Athletic Office for arranging a schedule that we say is "the best yet."

JAMES GINTY SELECTED

James B. Ginty of South Hamilton, veteran member of the Musical Club, today was appointed chairman of the music committee for the Senior Ball by Edward J. O'Melia, general chairman of the affair.

Ginty's long association with the musical clubs is adequate assurance of his musical talent and also of his ability in selecting a suitable orchestra for the dance. Ginty, who was intramural sports editor of the TOM-AHAWK and who was recently appointed co-sports editor of the Purple Patcher, is well remembered for his performance with his violin as a member of the Philharmonic Orchestra.

The new chairman, when interviewed, stated that although he played "second fiddle" in the Philharmonic, his selected band will not play second fiddle to any prom band.

Saturday night and the Mayor was there to send them off to a festive evening.

The dance, itself, held at the beautiful Worcester Country Club was a success financially and socially. The decorations fitted in perfectly with the rhythms of the rejuvenated Crusaders, who were a minor sensation for the evening with their frequent "jams." The "Big Apple" was the outcome of the first session. "Huck" Finn, '37, was the originator and Charley O'Connor, '40, soon provided assistance. With a blithesome and gay foot, the Waterbury prodigy stepped off a few pirouettes and galliards that enlivened the Big Apple and encouraged others to join him.

Girls from Worcester mainly, Regis, Wellesley, and a few from Radcliffe were the sailors' guests and from all accounts, the blind dates were favorable.

The Yacht Club, not to be discouraged by the set-back in lack of snow, hopes in the future to bring their original plan to a realization.

MUSICIANS AT WORCESTER

Former Cross Student Joseph Paul Smith Featured

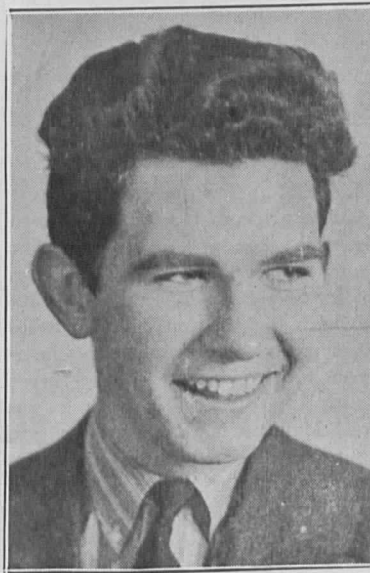

On Feb. 22, St. Joseph College in West Hartford, Conn., will be host to the musical clubs in a joint concert. The two Glee Clubs will unite in presenting two very beautiful works — "The Omnipotence" by Schubert and "To Thee O Lord Be Glory," one of Bach's finest compositions. Judging from the success which this concert enjoyed last year, it promises to be one of the finer concerts of the season.

On Wed., Feb. 9, the entire Glee Club and Orchestra journeyed to Leominster. The concert, sponsored by the K. of C. was held in the City Hall Auditorium. Fine acoustics, which the hall presented, enabled the clubs to display their talents to their full extent.

Friday night marked one of the most successful concerts given by the clubs so far. The Bancroft Hotel set the scene with Worcester alumni forming a capacity audience. The concert sponsored for the first time by the Worcester County Alumni, was a tremendous success due to the intensive work of the association which was also aided by various women's committees.

Presented in conjunction with the Glee Club and Philharmonic was the personable baritone, Joseph Paul Smith. Mr. Smith was a student at Holy Cross in 1922. Much can be said about his singing which has been hailed by critics throughout the East. His rich baritone voice possesses true lyric qualities. His renditions were marked by a feeling and intelligence for the music. Maintaining a steadfast adherence to pitch, his control of voice production was splendid. His pleasing personality quickly gained and held audience contact. He was assisted at the piano by Michael Lepore.

the National Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all industrial disputes." This question holds particular interest for all those who are interested in labor conditions as they exist at the present time, together with possibilities of these conditions resulting in important and far-reaching constitutional effects.

A second group of Holy Cross debaters will meet the Georgetown University Sophomore debating team at Sophomore sections A and C which was held in the Physics Laboratory in Alumni Hall, last evening. Sophomore A emerged victorious, establishing itself as the only section which is still undefeated in the intra-Sophomore debating circles.

George D. Lynch, debating the affirmative side for Sophomore C, began the fireworks by a forceful plea for a favorable economic status which labor strikes have precipitated in the industrial world to-day. Arthur G. Riel, of Section A, commended Mr. Lynch for his remarkable piece of oratory and distinguished the argument by casting out the objection of the Southborough Town Hall where the debate will be held under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers League. The Holy Cross team, which is composed of John Wilkas, Arthur Riel, and Robert Howes, will defend the negative side of the aforementioned proposition.

At the Fordham Debating Hall a third Holy Cross team will face the Fordham University Sophomore Debating team. The Crusaders will be represented by William Johnson, Francis Mullin, and Frederick Shea, who will uphold the affirmative side of the proposition for the evening, "Resolved, That Big Business is justified in its criticism of the present administration." Each of the opponents of the Holy Cross teams have been thoroughly tested on the forum, and have not been found lacking. Close to the judges to appreciate the debates with all three colleges are predicted.

The same question: "Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all labor disputes," was also discussed at the debate between ferred because of the fact that the negative had made no pretences to a defense of the labor strike.

John J. P. Wilkas again excelled as the outstanding speaker of the evening. He was pressed for this honor however by Mr. Lynch and Mr. Foley of the affirmative. The winning team was composed of George C. Ogar, Arthur Riel, Alexander Walsh, John J. P. Wilkas and Frederick T. Shea, while Hugh J. O'Neil, George Lynch, James E. Bergstrom, Francis Mullen, and Paul J. Foley, represented Sophomore C.

THE FUTURE LAWYERS

Word has been received that John Bergman, '37 and John Devine, '37 won the Moot Court Trials at Columbia Law School.

Daniel F. Sullivan, '36 has been awarded a scholarship for his outstanding work at Harvard Law School. The pecuniary value of the award is four hundred dollars.

For the thirteenth time in thirteen years a new staff has directed the publication of its first issue. New hands have received their first baptism under fire — new hands deeply grateful to the men that have retired.

To the college student body, and to all the college departments we pledge our heartiest cooperation. By hard work alone, shall we attempt to justify the confidence placed in us and to meet the responsibilities we have assumed. Ours shall be the simple satisfaction of doing and we earnestly hope a year from now — the realization of a job well done.

By J. Joseph Kierce, '39

A fond farewell to the friends who are with us no more. They personified in every way—save scholastic—the ideal Holy Cross gentleman. Goodbye, fellows, good luck!

It's a great life if you don't weekend. To the Juniors—and others—who aren't sure whether they were students at Holy Cross, the above is significant.

Watch for the big announcement due on the Junior Prom next week.

'Twas colossal, fellows! Why Freshman Night, of course. At last the Freshmen have been recognized.

Aida: We'll tell you everything: A is the first letter of the alphabet, i is the ninth, and d the fourth; P stands for Purple. Now, Aida, see if you can find the Key to our little riddle.

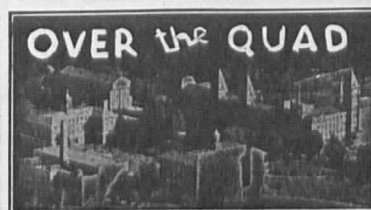

By the way, to pass through the postoffice yesterday, one would actually think it was Valentine Day.

After listening to some of the political bull sessions over in Beaven, we can truthfully say that we are a fugitive from a chin gang.

According to Ed McGinity, the difference between a college and its laundry is that you get out of college what you put into it. It can happen here, Ed.

If there's been a better baseball schedule than the one announced exclusively in tonight's TOMAHAWK (at least, from the student viewpoint) we haven't seen it.

Wonder if the Freshmen who bought tickets for Freshmen Night got a refund.

By John Charles Hanahue, '40

They tell us that the Freshmen gave the 'Rhetoricians' quite a lesson in eloquence Sunday morning. The power and confidence of O'Rourke, the fire and gusto of Page, and Carroll with his diction and gorgeous gesturing give the plebes of this institution a decided edge in any future contest of words. Wilkas is a 'natural,' Maher brought the morning to a glorious climax with his rhythmic sentences and the 'audience' still feel the vibrations of Leo Leary's laceration of the C. I. O.

In any race they have 'also rans' and in a field of some fifty speakers Mullin, Houlihan and Riel stood out for the Sophomore class, while Garrity, Dalton, and Archambault employed their forensic abilities while defending the honor of the Class of '41.

We have heard that the Prize Debate will concern itself with the Recession and the big business man's attitude toward the present administration. Perhaps the solvent for the present economic and industrial crisis in the country will be exposed in Kimball Hall somewhere around March 1.

This column reminds me much of Bergin's "Charlie McCarthy." If it speaks well, praise Bergin. If badly, give Charlie the "old Harry."

By Hugh Hayes Harlow

It was after the performance of "Murder in the Cathedral" last Saturday afternoon that we had a sudden urge to venture backstage and meet the Thomas Becket of the afternoon. Our desire was strengthened by the fact that Mr. Speaight has been named as the third of a triumvirate of modern actors who are still in their youth and are destined to follow a bright star to fame behind the footlights. Maurice Evans and John Gielgud are the other two, and it is safe to say that anyone who can rank with these two gentlemen in talent and accomplishment in the world of the theater is nothing short of great.

Immediately after the play we sought the stage door, and presented ourselves to a very stout gentleman who asked us what he could do for us. We told him that we would like to speak with Mr. Speaight if we might; he told us to wait and he would see if it was possible. He then disappeared into one of a long corridor of dressing rooms, and emerged shortly to tell us that we would be quite welcome, and ushered us into the dressing room of this English celebrity.

We were more than enthusiastically received, asked to sit down, and made entirely at home. It may be a failing for a journalist to prefer to talk to a man as a man rather than as a star, far out of reach, and to prefer to discuss matters of mutual interest rather than to ask him where he was born and when. Anyhow, that is the course we followed, and as it turned out, we were asked more questions than we put to him.

He finds the American audiences more than satisfactory, and quieter than those of his native land; he takes no performance for granted, and is always nervous before one begins. Even after a consecutive run of over six hundred performances he finds each one interesting. The theatre he says is a most fascinating kind of life but a long road and a hard one.

"It is well that the author is making these volumes, published originally as a digest of lectures for students of philosophy at Holy Cross College, accessible to a larger reading public."
—America.

"The amount of matter included in these texts is noteworthy. Students completing the two volumes will have passed a fairly active two-semester course and may feel that they have practically all the essentials and details that a course in Scholastic Ethics can offer."
—Modern Schoolman, May, 1930.

"Father Sullivan has presented his theses in syllogistic form. This adds greatly to the value of these volumes both in the classroom and in the hands of students."
—Catholic World, November, 1930.

"I like your orderly arrangement and method in treating the subject and find your books very useful."
Rev. John F. Wilson, O.S.A., Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

"This last definition, gentlemen, I take from the 'Special Ethics' of one of your neighbors, Rev. Joseph Sullivan, S.J., professor of Ethics in Holy Cross College, a book which, by the way, I take the liberty to recommend to you. . . I feel sure that if you read that book you will admit that you will have been helped to think more clearly and more helpfully on what is right and wrong in all these domains."

Professor Louis J. A. Mercier, A.M., Litt.D., Harvard University. (From an address delivered before the Springfield, Mass. City Club.)

"The exposition is uniformly clear and the arguments well sustained."
Ecclesiastical Review, October, 1930.

"We are finding these volumes very satisfactory for the senior class in philosophy as a text book."

Rev. Frank J. Monaghan, College of St. Elizabeth, Convent Station, N. J.

Purple Pennings

By Jack Kelley, '39

Not so old in years but more or less surrounded by a tradition that surpasses any evaluation mere time can make, Loyola Cage, scene of many great diamond luminaries in preliminary training, once more offers itself as the place for Jack Barry to unlimber his athletes, beginning of course with his battery-men. Unlimbering they must do, too. February is quite a spell removed from the first of October, and the first of October was when the boys had their last business-like exercise. Toss those apples, Kenney, Lefebvre, and the rest of you, but go easy at first—those arms are still stiff.

Just who is going to catch those "Chuckers"? To be logical, and that is the aim of every good TOMA-HAWKER, even if accidents sometimes happen, "Red" Joubert, pride of somewhere or other, is the choice. This naturally isn't the compelling choice. Keating and Sullivan, two Sophomores, have stepped up in line since Barry and Ryan have left, and they promise to offer the red-head some kind of competition, if not enough for one of them to become regular. Joubert is a pretty good "sticker" and that may land him the post.

Another week and another victory for Bart Sullivan's mile relay, and it would be neither fair nor accurate to fail to mention the wonderful bit of running the Freshmen did. McShane, Johnson, Wallace and O'Donnell are certainly harbingers of future Sullivan happiness. There is as sweet a quarter as any reasonable man could ask for, and we are not asking for any more. Al Bates ran an exceptional quarter which goes but further to prove that Al is an exceptional man when it comes to terms of speed.

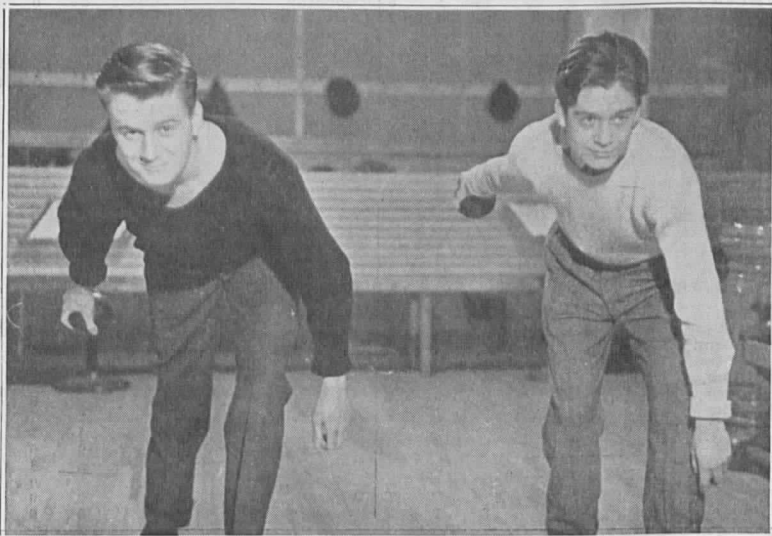

Returning to the diamond, or rather to Loyola's cage, the situation considered objectively is still a bit undecided. Where will Piurek play? Will Ouellette snare an outfield post or will Medford or some other unknown step gloriously in? How about Blaser? How will big Mike Klarnick throw them? How about Keating and Theriault? And Nicky Horrigan?

The five-man bowling teams are swinging, mostly down the gutters, but swinging happily none-the-less. As for Basketball Alumni II who play down-town on the side, Loyola I and O'Kane V are leading the loop and when they play each other something will happen and that something is liable to be a bit of a basketball frolic.

Frosh Travel To Providence

In the first Track meet of its kind in Providence in many a year, the Crusader yearlings will tonight enter their crack mile relay team and a few individual runners, including Jack Haley, long distance man. The Varsity runners were invited to compete, but they declined the offer, seeing that they run at Amherst Wednesday. If they did run in Providence, they would be competing three times within five days, and this would be too much for any team to stand. The Frosh relayists will, in all probability, be composed of the same unit which ran such a fine race in the B. A. A. games in Boston last Saturday night against Rhode Island State and Boston College first-year men. These runners are Larry McShane, Paul Johnson, Johnny Wallace, and Charley O'Don-

CROSS TRACK MEN WILL MEET AMHERST

After their return from the Providence K. of C. meet tonight, the track team will turn their spikes towards the Lord Jeffs of Amherst. This meet will give Bart an idea how his team will shape up in the outdoor season. As this is the first dual meet of the year, much is hoped for, and much is to be gleaned.

A group of 21 will make the trip. This includes strength in the middle and long distances, but an unknown quantity as to the results in the hurdles and field events. The 45 yd. dash will be taken care of by Larry Scanlon and Lou Rylisko, while Captain Larry will team up with Gillis in the 220. Jim Noone, trying a comeback after a knee injury that has hampered him since last May, will attempt to repeat his double win of last year in the highs and lows. Lyman Gillis will also run in the lows. Frank Blanchfield, Don Dunphy, and Al Bates will be featured in the 440, and Worcester's Al will double up with Bill O'Connell and Ed O'Connor in the half-mile. Bill Sullivan, Murt Lawrence, Jim Bergin, and Jim Stanton will line up for the mile.

Bill Gallogly, Jim Turner, Walt Walewski, and Jack Delaney will take care of the weight events. Lou Rylisko will broad-jump and Steve Mullins is entered in the high jump.

Track Forces Vie At New York

The next major track event looming upon the horizon is the N.Y.A.C. meet. The Holy Cross mile relay team will be entered, opposing in their race a Pittsburgh club anchored by Johnny Woodruff, and a Georgetown delegation. This latter group is composed of Juniors who have run together for two years, and they have won nationwide fame as one of the fastest squads in the country.

For individual stars, Holy Cross has Larry Scanlon who has been up among the winners all season. He made the finals of the dash in the K. of C. meet, a fourth in the Millrose games, and last week at the B. A. A. meet he came in third.

nell. This fine team has yet to taste defeat this year, and have turned in fine times in every race in which they have competed. The only individual entry which is certain as yet is that of Jack Haley in the 1500 yard run. Jack ran in the Prout Meet two mile run, but had to drop out after running a fine first mile. However, in this shorter distance, the young Crusader is expected to perform handsomely and is counted on to more than hold his own with the rest of the competitors.

RELAY TEAM TRIUMPHS

The two mile team was the first Cross unit to make an attempt in the relay carnival. Billy Sullivan led off for the Purple and came in trailing the "pack" of six competitors. Jimmy Bergin, with a 5-yd. lead, had the misfortune to run up against Slater, sensational Fordham half-miler, in his leg, and lost out at the tape by about a yard.

Next relay event of the evening which drew the interest of Cross followers was the Freshman mile relay. This was one of the most sensational races of the night. Opposing Holy Cross were the fast teams of Rhode Island State and Boston College Freshmen. Tommy Cunningham has been stricken all week with a badly infected foot and was unable to run, and Johnny Wallace had been in bed all week with the grippe, but he made a brave effort to run in the relay.

The Anchor leg turned into a thrilling race as Dixon, famed negro quarter-miler from Bridgeton Academy, began to run the anchor leg for Rhode Island State freshmen against Charley O'Donnell, Crusader yearling. Charley lost his lead in the first lap and trailed until the home stretch. Then, to the amazement of the thousand of fans, the Purple-clad flier decreased Dixon's lead yard by yard, and, with a final burst of speed, oozed by Dixon and crossed the finish line—winner by inches.

In the final race of the evening for the Crusaders, the Mile team won its second victory of the year in Boston, as it ran away from Boston College Varsity.

At the start of the last lap occurred the calamity of the race, as Wieberscheck stumbled, handing the baton to Dick Gill, and Larry Scanlon was a good twenty yards out in front of the B. C. anchor man before he could recover. Captain Gill ran a fine race but only gained about two yards on Scanlon.

Bowling Teams In First Round

As February slowly draws to a close, the five-man bowling tournament is steadily progressing. To date thirteen matches have already been bowled, and the remaining sixteen of the first round will take place within the next few days. From the interest displayed by the student body in this tournament, it becomes increasingly evident that bowling has definitely taken a place with basketball as one of the most popular of winter activities on the Hill. In all there are fifty-eight teams, comprising a total of 290 students, entered in the league; this represents 23 per cent of the entire undergraduate body. Such a hold, indeed, has the sport taken among the students that many a previously disinterested bystander has become a rabid bowling enthusiast.

Among those who have already bowled there is quite a collection of football luminaries, including Ziniti, Tullio, Teague, Manoli, Hall, and Barry. Murt Lawrence stands forth as the sole track representative.

For the week Loyola I took the high team honors by a score of 1379, with Henry Ziniti of the same team taking the individual high with a total of 290. He was closely followed by Jack Graham of the Worcester Seniors and Jack Aubrey of Alumni II. The high team string was also won by Loyola I with 489, and in second place are the Worcester Seniors with 448. Jack Kelly's 111 and Ed Duffy's 110 place them as leaders in the individual high string, followed by Tom Garvey, Joe Trunfio, Henry Ziniti, and Clyt Theriault, all with a score of 105.
