Subject: requesting permission to post article in IR

Greetings.

I am writing on behalf of CrossWorks (<http://crossworks.holycross.edu>), the institutional repository of the College of the Holy Cross and Barbara Merolli, Science Librarian. CrossWorks is a service of the Holy Cross Libraries, providing open access to the scholarly and creative work of our faculty, staff and students.

I was unable to determine Library Journal's policies regarding institutional repositories, therefore I am writing to request permission to include the following work in our repository:

- Merolli, Barbara. "Case Study: Student Art as Construction Beautification." Library Journal Spring 2009, p22-23.

College of the Holy Cross Mail - RE: requesting permission to post article in IR

If you kindly grant permission , please indicate which version may be deposited as well as any further requirements you may have. It is our practice with any previously published material to include a statement acknowledging that permission was granted by the copyright holder, and to include a reference to the original article. We also replace the system-generated citation (which refers to the repository) with a citation to the original article.

Thank you for you giving this request your consideration. I look forward to your reply.

Sincerely,

Lisa Villa '90
